

Aqua Nutrition Norway

Date: 13.09.24

Change starts at the individual business level, across the supply chains to that business. As Cargill's aqua nutrition business in Canada we are committed to transitioning toward deforestation- and conversion-free supply chains for the aqua feeds we make for our aqua feed customers, and to follow that commitment with a public action plan. Cargill's aqua nutrition business in Canada made this commitment in line with ASC guidance related to the cut-off date.

We also commit to publishing a plan for this transition by the end of 2025 and to publish an annual report on progress against the plan, which will focus on ingredients derived from soy and palm oil as the main crops at risk, as well as other high-volume plant ingredients.
